PROPOSALS
For Publishing, by Subscription,
THE COMPLETE WORKS OF
SIR WALTER SCOTT:

With a Biography: being the first American (and only) edition which contains the Author's last additions and illustrations, arranged upon their respective pages.

A COMPLETE and uniform edition of the various productions of the great 'Minstrel of the North,' is a desideratum with the American public. No library is complete without them, and no edition extant is sufficiently compact for such a repository; while the endless number of editions, without any uniformity in size, heretofore published, besides being exceedingly cumbrous, are far too voluminous and expensive to be within the reach of the great majority of readers. The undersigned therefore announce, that they have now in press, and will issue, an edition of the Works of Sir Walter Scott, which will embrace all his Poems, Novels, Histories, Biographies, and Fugitive Compositions, as well as the Biography and Private Correspondence, now in the course of publication in England, under the superintendence of Mr. Lockhart.

1st. In Parts: each Part embracing as much matter as is contained in two volumes of the present editions of the Waverley Novels, which will be put at the unprecedented low price of THIRTY SEVEN AND A HALF CENTS.

2d. Two parts will appear each month; but should the publishers find the work to meet the patronage they anticipate, FOUR PARTS will be issued monthly.

3d. The whole will be completed in seven volumes, or forty eight parts.

The paper on which the above is now printing, has been made expressly for the purpose; the present parts may, therefore, be considered a fair specimen, in every respect, of the whole work; but, should dissatisfaction arise with any subscriber, owing to an inferior article being offered, he may discontinue at any time, and have the amount paid returned.

Note.—The publication of the first volume is deferred until the receipt of the Biography, Private Correspondence, and the New Edition of the Author's Poetical Works, with 'contemporary criticism—various readings—and correspondence with some of the most eminent persons of the time when the Poems first appeared,' now in the course of publication in England.

Volume 1 will be ornamented with an excellent Portrait of Sir Walter Scott.

JOB PRINTING

EXECUTED, with neatness and despatch, at the Office of the PITTSBURGH GAZETTE. April 26

DAILY PITTSBURGH GAZETTE.

MONDAY AFTERNOON, SEPTEMBER 9, 1833.

☞Several advertisements, received at too late an hour for this paper, shall appear to morrow.

☞THE RIVER has risen about ten inches, in consequence of the rain on Saturday and Sunday. It was at a stand, to day, at noon; but the full effect of the rain will not be felt here before to morrow morning. We expect a rise of three or four feet more. The present rise will let out full loaded keel boats, and has reduced freights to Louisville from $1,06 1-4 to 62 1-2 cents per cwt.

☞MORDECAI M. NOAH AND THOMAS GILL have issued proposals for publishing a new daily paper, in New York, to be called the Evening Star.

☞The Democratic Jackson Convention, of Lancaster County, express "a hope that the coming Legislature will elect James Buchanan, (who has not yet returned from St. Petersburgh,) to the United States Senate. It would have been rather more modest to wait until he had arrived in this country—but modesty is not now the fashion.

FOREIGN NEWS.—As we had anticipated—the last intelligence from Portugal announces the abandonment of Lisbon, by the partisans of Don Miguel, and its submission to the troops of Donna Maria, under the command of Villa Flor. This took place, it seems, on the 24th of July, the month of revolutions, so that, even as to time, our anticipations have been fulfilled. On the 25th of July a desperate assault was made on Oporto, by the Miguelites, under the direction of Bourmont, in which they obtained a momentary and partial success, but were finally repelled, at all points, with great loss. This, we presume, will be the last effort in the present contest. It is not at all probable that Spain will undertake to interfere against the wishes of France and England; and if she were even unwise enough to do so, her efforts will be in vain. The contest is at an end, and Europe seems likely to enjoy a period of peace, until interrupted by some new convulsion, in England or France, these countries being, certainly, the most combustible parts of that Continent.

☞THE FAIR.—The precise amount received has not yet been ascertained—upwards of eight hundred dollars has, however, been paid in. Certainly a very liberal contribution.

LAKE ERIE.—The following notice of the trade of Cleveland, is from the Advertiser, of that place—it presents the importance of the trade of that single port in a strong light, without reference to the commerce of other ports on that lake, or to its future increase. It forms a noble prize, well worth contending for by the key stone and empire states.

Western Trade.—The great and rapidly growing importance of the western statse, has become a matter of deep interest to our neighbors on the sea board a spirited rivalry is about to rise to secure a monopoly of the immense trade of this highly interesting portion of the Union. The completion of the Ohio Canal, and the opening thereby of the longest line of inland navigation in the world, has given an impetus to western enterprize, of the most salutary and invigorating nature, and has laid open a field for adventure, which we apprehend is not sufficiently known or appreciated. The interior of this state, comprising a district of country, which, for beauty, and fertility of soil, is second to none, before the construction of this great work, from its isolated situation, and its remoteness from market, was comparatively valueless. The great quantity of produce, now floated down the canal, from that region, and which finds its way to the seaboard, either through the New York Canal or the St. Lawrence, is truly incredible. The quantity of Pork alone, shipped from the port of Cleveland, the present season, it is estimated, will not fall much short of 30,000 barrels. Of the quantity of beef, flour, corn, whiskey, &c., no estimate can be formed. When it is considered this is comparatively but the produce of a small part of the state, and that new, but thinly settled, and indifferently cultivated, what may not be expected when it becomes completely settled, and its resources fully developed.—Cleveland Adv.

Seven days later from London.

From the N. York Mercantile Advertiser, Sept. 4.

LISBON IN POSSESSION OF DON PEDRO.

The new packet ship United States, Capt. N. H. Holdrege, arrived yesterday morning from Liverpool, having sailed thence on the 8th ult.

By this arrival we have our regular files of English papers—London to the 7th, and Liverpool to the 8th ultimo. The most important political intelligence is that Lisbon is in possession of Don Pedro, or, as it is perhaps more proper to say, in that of the Young Queen Donna Maria da Gloria. It appears that the Lieutenant of Don Miguel evacuated Lisbon on the 23d July with 4,000 troops, and retreated to the north; that Villa Flor, Duke of Terceira, had a battle on the 22d with Telles Jordao, in which, with an army containing only 1,500 regular troops, opposed to the Miguelite troops of 6,000 strong, Villa Flor had gained a decided victory.

Immediately on the evacuation of Lisbon by the Miguelite soldiery, the inhabitants had spontaneously thrown open the prisons, and liberated 5,000 captives, principally confined for political offences, proclaimed the young Queen, and formed themselves into a national guard. All this was effected without a single soldier of the young Queen's army. On the morning of the 24th they communicated with the Duke of Terceira, and hoisted the Queen's flag, with that of England, on the citadel, on which day he entered the city, and took command; and on the 25th, Admiral Napier, with the Duke of Palmella, entered the river.

The remnant of the Miguelite army were retreating towards the Douro.

An unsuccessful attack had been made upon Oporto on the 24th, in several attempts, which resulted in considerable loss on both sides, though the Miguelites had much the worst of it, according to the English accounts. Advices up to the 27th had been received, and no further attack had been made. The latest "on dits" in England were, that Miguel had gone to Spain, and that his cause was at an end.

A regency was to be immediately established in Portugal, and one account says, was to be entrusted to the Infanta Donna Maria de Assumpcao, (Donna Isabella Maria, being very sick at Coimbra.)

There appears an account in the London Times of the 7th, under the head of City, Tuesday Evening, August 6th, which states that a report "had got into circulation" that it was the intention of government to send troops to Spain, to support the Queen against any menaced attack on the side of Spain. This, however, appears to us to need confirmation, for Consols, which fell half per cent. on the first spreading of the report, had resuscitated again before the close of the market.

In England, things were going on much as might be expected; confidence seemed to be restored.—The Slavery Bill, the East India Bill, and the Bank Charter Bill, were all in various stages of their progress. The twenty millions had been agreed to as the indemnity to the planters, and nothing remained but to settle some details. The Jewish Bill had been lost in the House of Lords.

The alteration made in the Commons to the Thelluson Bill had been agreed to by the Peers, so that Bill only needs the Royal assent.

We have selected such articles as we deem most interesting, and may continue further extracts as we shall find them to contain sufficient interest.

In England there appears very little to have transpired of much general importance. The Jews' Bill had been negatived in the House of Lords.

Accounts from Oporto, of July 26th, state that an attack was made by the troops of Miguel, in which they succeeded in getting possession of the high road from the city to the Foz, but were ultimately dislodged at the point of the bayonet. At half past 9 the attack was renewed, but the Miguelites were again defeated.

CAPTURE OF LISBON.

PLYMOUTH, August 1.—The Confiance, government steamer, has just arrived at this port with the following important intelligence from Portugal.—She left Lisbon on the 25th of July, and Oporto on the 27th. Villa Flor entered and took possession of Lisbon on the 24th, with scarcely any loss. The English prisoners confined in the city having burst their bonds and procured arms, speedily liberated all the persons confined, and afforded the Pedroites great assistance. The police, 5,000, retreated outside the wall, without firing a shot, and nearly all the inhabitants immediately declared in favor of the young Queen. Admiral Napier entered with the fleet on the 25th, and thus completed the capture of the place.

Oporto was attacked on the 25th, as reported by the African steamer, and, although not immediately under the command of Marshal Bourmont, still with his advice and instruction; indeed, he stated his intention of dining in Oporto on that day.—They entered the place, but were repulsed with tremendous slaughter, having lost 1,400 men. The Pedroite loss was 700, among whom was the brave Colonel Cotter, who fell by a random shot after the heat of the action. One regiment of Miguel's cavalry was nearly all cut off. Don Pedro left Oporto for Lisbon on the night of the 27th, in the steamer Britannia, and was saluted by the English men of war outside.

The following are the official details:—

"AUGUST 2.

"Despatches have been received from Lisbon, dated the 25th ult., containing the important intelligence of the establishment of the authority of Queen Donna Maria II. in that capital, where she was proclaimed on the morning of the 24th ult., by the Portuguese themselves, without the aid or interference of a single foreign soldier.

"On the 23d, the Duke of Terceira, advancing from St. Ubes, had met and totally routed the force sent from Lisbon against him, under the command of the notorious Telles Jordao, who is said to have been killed in the action. Upon this intelligence in Lisbon, the Duke of Cadaval, and the rest of Don Miguel's ministers, decided on withdrawing from the capital, which they did in the course of the same night, taking with them about 4000 troops, and retreating to the north. The town's people, on the following morning, (the 24th) finding their oppressors gone, with one consent hoisted the standard of Donna Maria, and proclaimed her Majesty in due form, with every appearance of enthusiasm. Their first step was to open the prisons and liberate the numerous victims of Miguel's tyranny. About the same time the colors of Villa Flor's army appeared on the opposite heights, and in the afternoon he himself crossed the Tagus, in the midst of salutes and rejoicings, and issued a proclamation in the name of the Queen.

"On the 25th, when the letters were despatched, Lisbon was perfectly tranquil again, and but few excesses had been committed, considering the excitement which must naturally have attended such a crisis, and the wrongs to which so many of the inhabitants had been so long subjected. Napier's fleet, with the Duke of Palmella on board, was then entering the Tagus.

"The news of these events having reached Oporto on the 26th, Don Pedro embarked that night from the Foz, on board a steamer for Lisbon, leaving to Saldanha the supreme command, both civil and military. Up to the 27th, Marshal Bourment had not renewed his attack on the town, and, as troops were observed to be passing over to the south bank of the Douro, it was supposed that he was about to raise the seige.

Proclamation of the Duke of Terceira.

"LISBON, July 24.—Inhabitants of Lisbon!—the division of the liberating army, with the command of which his Imperial Majesty the Duke of Braganza, Regent in the name of the Queen, was pleased to entrust me, with the sole view of liberating you, has crossed the provinces south of the Tagus, and come to the margin of this river, to cause the standard of the Queen and liberty to wave before you. But this standard, under which the loyal supporters of the throne and the charter took shelter, amidst the persecutions of exile and in combats, never was the emblem of war and vengeance, but that of the peace, concord, and reconciliation, of the whole Portuguese family, and of clemency and pardon for the deluded and unfortunate. Therefore, inhabitants of Lisbon, order, respect for the rights of each, the tranquillity and peace of the capital, are what I hope and exact from you. I have taken, and shall continue to take, measures for you to be regularly armed, by re-establishing the same corps that were once the support of the Queen and the charter; in them, and in others which I shall immediately organize, you will have an opportunity of sharing the glory of restoring the nation, and of maintaining order and the tranquillity of our hearths.

"DUKE DE TERCEIRA.

From the American Sentinel.

From France, Holland, or Belgium there is nothing new.—The withdrawal of the Russian forces from Constantinople is fully confirmed.

London, August 6.—Cotton still continued firm, Georgia and South Carolina 9 1-2 to 10 1-2d, Louisiana 10d to 11d: stocks on hand light.

The China trade is now open to private merchants. The East India Company have sent to China and India to say that no more ships will be sent out, and desiring purchases of tea and all India produce to cease; nor is it thought they will make any more shipments of British manufactures from hence.

Liverpool, August 8th.—Since the 1st, the demand for Cotton has been limited; business in common qualities at a decline of 1-4 per lb. There is a great falling off in all exports except to the United States. The advance in woollen goods is much greater than in cotton, which is in favor of the latter commodity.

Alderman Key, one of the Reform Members of Parliament for the city of London, had been compelled to resign his seat, in consequence of malpractices.

The contest between Donna Maria and Miguel may now be considered at an end. It has been understood, for some time past, that Great Britain and France waited only for the occupation of Lisbon by the Constitutionalists to acknowledge Donna Maria as the de facto Sovereign of Portugal. It may be considered, therefore, as a settled thing, that the Courts of London and Paris will immediately enter into the usual diplomatic relations with the Queen of Portugal according to the established usages between friendly countries. So far, therefore, as the foreign relations of Portugal are concerned, in respect to the two principal powers of Europe, the Government of Donna Maria is not likely to meet with any difficulties; in her domestic position, however, the young Queen is exposed to much and deilcate embarrassment.—London Courier.

The Paris papers of Saturday and Sunday, with a letter from our correspondent, had been received this morning. The intelligence of the taking of Lisbon, by the Constitutional forces, had been received by telegraphic despatch from Brest, and the news afforded the most evident satisfaction. The young Queen it was expected, would shortly leave Paris to take possession of her throne; and the recognition of Donna Maria, as Queen of Portugal, by the French Government, was anticipated to follow the official announcement of the capture of Lisbon, which was to be communicated yesterday by the Marquis de Loule.—Ib.

Joseph Lancaster, the celebrated founder of the new system of education, is residing in poverty at Montreal, in Canada, laboring for his living and the maintenance of his wife and family. Some of the friends of general education, in London, are about to appeal to the public, in order to raise an annuity for his life, and to procure for his children that education and establishment which he has been the instrument of providing for hundreds of thousands.

A soldier of the 6th dragoons, for a considerable wager, undertook, on Monday, to walk on his hands from the barracks to Portobello, a distance of a mile and a half, which he accomplished, to the astonishment of a great number of spectators, in half an hour.

From a report on agriculture, in Flanders, we learn that in that country, the method of shoeing horses is far superior to the English method. The shoe is so formed that the whole of the foot has a bearing. This strikes us to be necessary. Whereas the English farrier's shoe causes a bearning only on the edge of the hoof. To this is attributed many of the incurable lamenesses to which the horses of that country are subjected, such as corns, thrushes, contracted heels, &c.

The Hon. Martin Van Buren, Vice President of the United States, and Mr. Cambreleng, honorably known for his writings in favor of free trade, accompanied by a distinguished party, arrived in town yesterday, and will, it is said, proceed to Quebec this day.—Montreal Daily Adv.

As we predicted, Mr. Van Buren and his Pilot Fish were warmly welcomed in Canada! It is, however, no more than they deserve. They have rendered essential service to Britain, and are entitled to her hospitalities. John Bull will not forget Mr. Van Buren's instructions to Mr. M'Lane, to yield the pretensions set up by Mr. Adams, in relation to the West India trade. And Mr. Cambreleng, too, is "honorably known" to England for his zeal in favor of "Free Trade." No other two American statesmen could visit a British Province with stronger claims upon its gratitude.—*Albany Eve. Grafting Fruit Trees.—Pears may be engrafted on stocks of the Mountain Ash, and Service Tree; both of which will grow and thrive where Pear tree stocks will not. Apples may be grafted on Quince stocks, and planted in a soil so wet that the apple alone could not live in.

The Arkansas Gazette, of the 7th ult, contains a communication from the Rev. A. D. Smyth, narrating the death of William A. Boyce, a traveling preacher of the Methodist Episcopal Church. He was drowned, during the late freshet, near Big Red River, in a small drain which was flushed by excessive rains. The same writer states that a report prevailed, that the Rev. Martin Wells had been also drowned, in forcing his way across the Washita river. He expresses, however, a hope, that the latter report may have originated in the one alluded to above, and that it is unfounded.

A friend from over the mountains, has just informed us that while passing one of the seven mountains between Lewistown and Bellefonte, he saw the dead body of a man named Broon, a carter of Valentine's Works, who had been killed by being precipitated with his team, of five horses, and wagon loaded with iron, over a ledge of rocks 35 feet. Two horses were killed and the others were more or less injured. A young lad, the son of Broon, was driving, and seeing their imminent danger, escaped himself, and gave his father timely warning. The lad, in stating the particulars, concluded by saying, "but my father was drunk."—Meadville Messenger.

Mr. Adams, in his letter to Mr. Robert Smith, admits that he may have said that the King of England, (George 3d) took personal offence at the imputation cast upon his honor in one of Mr. Smith's letters to Mr. Erskine. It is, we believe, a well known fact that not only the King, but the whole British nation received with one burst of indignation the affrontive language used in this same letter of Mr. Smith. When the offensive expression was read in Parliament, all the bitter distinctions of party were instantly melted away and dissipated in one common sense of indignation at an insult so deliberately offered, at a moment when the government of the United States had accepted, as a full and complete satisfaction, the terms of reconciliation proposed by the English minister.—Boston Atlas.

An Extraordinary Natural Production.—We have now, in our office, (where our citizens and farmers are requested to call and see it,) a most singular species of corn. The history of this rare freak of nature is substantially as follows. About three years ago, a Mr. Carrico, living in Gallatin county, Kentucky, planted some of the common Indian Corn in the neighborhood of a swampy piece of land which was grown over with a thick strong grass resembling sedge grass. In the fall of the year when he was gathering his corn, he was surprised to find that ears of corn were growing and ripening upon the grass, and that on the blades of the grass seperate grains were growing. Struck by the singularity of the circumstance, he carefully preserved the grains and planted them in the next spring. The result was extraordinary, producing a growth partaking of the qualities both of the grass and the corn, and superior to both as forming a third article very advantageous to stock farmers. The stalks in our office present most remarkable appearances. The tassel does not bear any resemblance to the corn tassel, but is more like the heads of coarse grass—the blades are long and very slender, resembling more the blades of oats than of corn. Upon the extremities of these blades seperate grains of corn enclosed in a husk presenting the appearance of hazle nut burs, are found, and to the bodies of the stalks more perfect ears of corn are attached. The stalks themselves are long and slender and not unlike the wild rye of the country, only stronger and more substantial.—We believe that this grain is at least one thing new under the sun, and unlike most novelties, it promises to be useful.

Newspapers.—It seems to us difficult to imagine how the world could have lived so long as it did, without newspapers. They are to us so indispensable that we can hardly conceive of living, without them. The first newspaper appeared in Venice about the middle of the sixteenth century, when that republic was carrying on war against Solyman II. The news was sent in written sheets, which were read at a particular place by those desirous of hearing them, and who paid for the privilege in a coin called gazetta, whence arose the name gazette. The first paper in England appeared under Elizabeth in the epoch of the Spanish Armada, several numbers of which are now preserved in the British Museum. These were, however, extraordinary gazettes, not regularly published. Periodical papers came into general use during the civil war in the time of the Commonwealth, and were called weekly newsbooks. Some of these had very curious titles, such as "The Parliament Kite," "The Secret Owl," "The Discoverer," "The Discoverer Stript Naked," &c.—In the time of Queen Anne there was but one daily paper in England. The number of newspapers published in London in 1829 has been stated at 55; in other parts of England 158; in Scotland 38; in Ireland 74; total 325. The extent of the circulation of one of the London papers, the Times, may be learned from the fact that it pays between fifty and sixty thousand pounds a year in stamp duties.

The first paper printed in British North America was called "The Boston News Letter." The first number was published April 24, 1704, and it continued seventy four years. The second one was established in 1720, also in Boston, and was called "The New England Courant." This was printed by James and Benjamin Franklin, and our great philosopher's earliest printed compositions appeared in it. The oldest paper now in existence in the United States, is, if we mistake not, published in Newport—the name of which has slipped from our memory. The whole number printed in the United States is considerably over a thousand.

All the names of the towns, provinces, islands, and seas in Greece, are to be changed back to those they possessed in the days of their ancient renown.

JOHN RANDOLPH, of Roanoke, who was opposed, as is well known, to the Embargo and Non intercourse law, not only because he deemed them impolitic, but also because he believed them to be unconstitutional, remarked:

"While I deprecate the existence of the Embargo, I trust there exists, and that there will always exist, a disposition to enforce the laws of the General Government. I will be one among the first, sir, to resist a contrary doctrine. If the laws cannot be enforced, to what purpose are we a confederated people? and why have we organized a National Government? I will not believe that the citizens of any portion of the country will rise in resistance to the laws, until the fact has actually occurred; and in this point of view, I regret the introduction of the report and resolutions, as they lead to suggestions of a different nature. When the case does occur, I would apply the proper remedy. I would have recourse to the knife and cautery."

"I have the reading of it every week."—It not unfrequently occurs, when persons are asked if they will subscribe for a newspaper, or if they already take it, that they reply, "No; but neighbor B. takes it, and I have the reading of it every week." Such often add, that they like the paper, and sometimes say they consider it "the best paper they know of." They are benefitted every week by the toils, perplexities, and expenditures of those who receive nothing from them in return. Reader, if you feel reproved, just send in your name, and take the paper yourself.

Gentility.—A true gentleman or a lady is such naturally. Outward circumstances alone can never make a gentleman. It may form his manners, and make them correspond with the cold etiquette of the day, but wherever politeness does not flow from its true source, the heart, it must and will be ever chilling and constrained. That person who is not as kind in his manner to an obscure as to a popular individual, is very defective in the true principle of gentility—this may seem a bold and rather a harsh conclusion, but it is nevertheless true. Our word gentleman is certainly now a solecism in language, instead of gentleman, it should be *proud*man—or some word expressive of the very opposite of gentleness.

Anecdote—An eastern tin pedlar, having fixed his wagon in a shed—no matter whether it was—in Jersey City or at Hoboken—that is nobody's business—the stable, however, was noted for keeping horses as lean as Pharaoh's cows. As he walked from stem to stern, and discerned the bones on the horses' rumps projecting like so many small pyramids, says he, "Mr. Landlord, do you make horses here?" "Make horses here!"—said the surly Dutchman—"what do you mean, sir?" "Why, I thought as how you had just been setting up the frames!"—N. Y. Amer.

We were shown, yesterday, a sample of Anthracite Coal, being part of an immense bed recently discovered by Mr. Purcell, engineer, on the Virginia side of the Potomac, about 15 or 20 miles above Williamsport, Washington county. It is the opinion of Mr. Purcell that this bed of coal extends to the Maryland shore. It appears to us to be of good quality. The sample may be seen at this office.—Balt. Chron., Sept. 3.

The Rutherford (N. C.) Spectator, of the 16th August, furnishes the following statement of the votes given for members of Congress, in the 12th District:—Graham, 3276, Carson, 2451; Newland, 2201. By which it appears that Mr. Carson, in spite of his acknowledged personal popularity, has been beaten by a majority of eight hundred and twenty five votes, and when it is stated both of his opponents were Union men, it will be seen that there was considerably more than two to one in favor of Union principles. "So much for Nullification" in North Carolina.

David Crockett, in a letter to a friend, thus announces his triumph over Fitzgearld: "Dear Sir—Went through—tight squeezing—beat Fitz 170.—Yours, D. C." In brevity, this is almost equal to Cæsar's "Veni, vidi, vici."—Alex. Gaz.

The Nasturtium.—Our Horticulturists and floral amateurs will be pleased with the information in the following paragraph from the London Literary Gazette.

There is this season a rich and beautiful variety of the nasturtium, which has sported several colors both more deep and brilliant than that to which we have been accustomed in the plant. We have seen one almost blood color, and several of fine browns and dark reds. The gardens are also this year improved by some pretty annuals from Mexico. A florist tells us that the nasturtium has not sported (as the term is) before for two hundred years.—Poulson.

A Compliment.—The London Athenæum for July says:—"It is with some concern we hear that Leslie, the Royal Academician, is about to leave England for America. He will scarcely leave his equal in the land, if he goes; and it says little for the encouragement given to genius in this country, when a painter, who is surpassed by none, and equalled by very few, either for quiet humor, or tenderness, or beauty, has to seek for subsistence in another country, and deprive us of the fame which must belong to him, wherever he goes."

PROSPECT HILL

Literary & Scientific Institution.

PITTSBURGH, Pa.

ON the 1st of July, Mr. DANIEL STONE intends opening, near the City of Pittsburgh, an Institution for the instruction of boys. Its plan is to combine, as far as possible, the peculiar advantages of a domestic and public education.—The pupils, with the principal and assistants, will constitute one family, and be at all times under careful supervision. The Discipline will be mild, but strict, such as a father, solicitous for the welfare of his children, would exercise over them. It is believed that an appeal to reason, and the sense of honor and duty, will generally secure obedience. Coercive measures will, therefore, be adopted only in extreme cases.

The Course of Study will embrace the English, Latin, Greek, and French Languages; Arithmetic, Algebra, and Geometry; Geography and History—Ancient and Modern; Rhetoric, Composition, and Elocution; Natural Philosophy and Chemistry; Penmanship, Orthography, and Reading. Frequent examinations will be held, open to the friends and relations of the youths.

The Mode of Instruction will be thorough and critical, and no subject will be relinquished until fully understood. That the scholar's mind may become vigorous, active, and self-confident—prepared for the stern conflicts of life, and a fearless discharge of its duties, he will be encouraged to reason and decide for himself.

Each student will be required to attend such church as his parent or guardian shall designate.

To preserve health and elasticity of spirits, to check indolence, and promote industry among the students, they will be daily exercised in athletic sports.

Pupils will be admitted between the ages of Six and Sixteen. None can be received for less than one term.

The uniform Dress will consist of a cap, blue roundabout, with metal buttons, and blue pantaloons. Every article of clothing should be marked with the owner's name in full.

The Terms are two hundred dollars a year, payable quarterly in advance. This includes Tuition, Board, Lodging, Washing, Mending, Light, and Fuel.

The Vacations, after the present year, will be three—the 1st, of two weeks, from the 3d Wednesday in April; the 2d, of four weeks, from the 2d Wednesday in August; and one week at Christmas.

The Matron's department will be under the care of Mrs. Reynolds, of this city.

PERIODICALS.

AMERICAN RAILROAD JOURNAL, and Advocate of Internal Improvements, which is designed as a repository of the accounts of the rise and progress of numerous works of Internal Improvement, in the United States particularly, and in other parts of the world generally. The work is published weekly, and forms a large octavo volume each year, of 832 pages of 3 columns each, for $3 per annum, in advance.

New York Farmer, and American Gardener's Magazine. This work is designed for the agriculturist, and will be found to contain much, both interesting and profitable, to those who cultivate the soil as a business, or merely a garden for amusement. Published in monthly parts of 32 large octavo pages, with three columns each, at $3 per annum, in advance.

Mechanics' Magazine, and Register of Improvements and Inventions. To the Mechanics of the United States---In this populous and enlightened country, almost every description of persons can obtain knowledge and amusement connected with their peculiar pursuits, through the medium of the Journal or Magazine, especially devoted to their interests. The Theologian, the Farmer, the Philosopher, the Sportsman, and even the Plough Boy, has each his Journal, where he can find a record of the passing events of the day, connected with his peculiar avocations and recreations. Hitherto, the Mechanics (who form a large and most important portion of the community) have had no Journal, to which they could turn, with the certainty of finding that information they desire, no periodical of which they could say: 'This is ours, and for us.' In the hope that the attempt to supply such a want at a price so reasonable as to be within the reach of all, will meet with your active support, the subscriber proposes to publish, on the first day of each month, a Mechanics' Magazine. It will contain a well digested selection of the most useful and interesting articles in the London Mechanics' Magazine, London Register of Arts and Sciences, Repertory of Inventions, Library of Useful Knowledge, Journal of the Franklin Institute, and other works, connected with the arts and manufactures, published in this country and in Europe, accompanied with numerous and well executed Engravings. Its pages will be open for the communications of all, and especially for those of the practical artisan, to whose interest it will be particularly devoted. The Mechanics' Magazine will contain, also, a due portion of the occurrences of the month, Scientific and Literary Reviews of Books, Anecdotes, Economical Receipts, Reports of the state of Mechanics' Institutions, and other Scientific Societies in this state and other countries. To be published monthly. Each succeeding number will contain 64 pages, handsomely printed, and stitched in a neat cover. Six numbers will form a volume, for which an index and title page will be supplied, and also a Portrait of some distinguished Mechanic, as a Frontispiece. Terms, $3 per annum, in advance.

D. K. MINOR,
Wall street, New York.

☞ Subscriptions for the above works, (where a specimen of each can be seen,) will be received at S. J. SYLVESTER'S,
Corner of Wood and Third streets.

DOCTOR ROBERT'S
☞WELCH MEDICAMENTUM☜

FOR the cure of Dyspepsia, Liver Complaints, Jaundice, Cholic, Fever and Ague, Dysentery, Headach, Loss of Appetite, Flatulence, Hypochondria, Hysterics, Dropsical Complaints, and Heartburn. It also prevents all Bilious disorders, and removes habitual Costiveness, Asthma, Strangury, Gravel, Rheumatism, Gout, and Impurities of the Blood.

A person who uses this Medicamentum will not require the use of the lancet, or any means of the healing art. It restores and revives the animal spirits, invigorates the system, removes nervous tremors, obtunds rheumatic and anthritic pains, and prevents their return. It cleanses the stomach of all morbid humors, which cause indigestion, acidities, headach, and lowness of spirits; cures all bilious disorders, and all cholics of the stomach and bowels, almost immediately; inspires cheerfulness; gives comfort to the dropsical; takes away palpitation of the heart; gives circulation to the blood; restores bloom to the sallow or sickly cheek, and plumpness to the meagre habit; purges without pain, and banishes all cause of fever of every kind. It acts on the stomach, that great reservoir of the human system, a diseased state of which causes all diseases. No alteration in the usual habits of life is required, but the abstaining from distilled ardent spirits.

CERTIFICATE,
From Rev. Derick Lansing, D. D., Pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church in Utica.

UTICA, Jan. 6, 1830.

To Dr. Hitchcock.—Dear Sir: I have always been one of the number of those who have placed little confidence in nostrums or specifics, and for this reason, although I saw your advertisement of the Welch Medicamentum, I could not bring my mind to consent to use it. My sufferings, from indigestion, during the past summer, were so severe, as materially to affect my comfort, and my capacity for usefulness. I have reason to thank you, sir, that, on hearing of the state of my health, you kindly sent me your Medicamentum. I have taken it faithfully, and with entire success. I have not been visited with one of those turns of distress, which before were weekly periodical, since I began to take your valuable medicine. Could I receive the same relief which I have hitherto experienced, on condition of taking it for life, I should cheerfully comply with such condition. Your's, very truly, D. C. LANSING.

ANTI-DYSPEPTIC ELIXER.

ONE of the most agreeable and efficacious Medicines ever discovered for the permanent cure of those chronic states of derangement of the stomach, constituting that miserable disease called Dyspepsia.

The basis of this Elixer is vegetables, and perfectly innocent in its operation; it destroys that sour state of the stomach, the instant it is taken, and stops the morbid secretion, by giving strength to the muscular fibre of that important organ, by which means the peristaltic motion of the intestines is increased, and the costiveness obviated; a new action is given to the system, which puts an end to a train of distressing nervous sensations.

Another form of the disease in which the Elixer is admirably calculated to relieve, is the decline of fever, where the stomach will not bear the ordinary strengthening medicines indicated in such cases, it has the surprising effect of giving vigor, and restoring the natural secretions of the body, without increasing the febrile state. Not the least danger is to be apprehended from exposure to cold, while under the use of this medicine, nor will it interrupt necessary employment of the patient a single hour.

☞A number of cases of cures performed by the Anti-Dyspeptic Elixer in the vicinity of Pittsburgh can be given.

GEO. W. CARPENTER'S
COMPOUND SYRUP OF LIVERWORT,

A SAFE and Valuable Medicine for Coughs, Spitting of Blood, Consumption, and Liver Complaints.

Most of the medicines made use of for the above diseases are of a stimulating nature, composed generally of Resins and Balsams, in alcoholic solutions, which, although sometimes givingt emporary relief, in almost every instance where they are freely used, aggravate the disease, and reduce the strength of the patient.

This article possesses superior advantages over these preparations, its action being of a tonic, invigorating and strengthening nature, thus overcoming the disease by promoting expectoration, and gradually increasing the strength of the patient, and thus, without being attended with any unpleasant effects: it also agrees with the stomach, in all cases, and is a pleasant medicine to take.

Rights to use the machine in that part of the United States, named above, will be sold by the single county or in larger districts. As it is presumed that no one will purchase without seeing the machine at work, a description of it is deemed unnecessary. Should any person, however, wish to purchase, and find it inconvenient to visit the places where it is in operation, a machine will be furnished, warranted to plane, tongue and groove, and bring to an exact width and thickness, a white pine board of 12 feet long, and of any width from 1 to 14 inches, in one minute and ten seconds, or an oak board of the same dimensions in 2 minutes and 10 seconds. Machines may be seen at work in the cities of New Orleans, Washington, Philadelphia, New York, Boston, and others at the south and east, at Wheeling, Virginia, and at the saw mill of Messrs. Irwin & Herron, in this city.

Persons desiring to purchase will have the certificates of scientific and practical men who have seen it at work, in the different places in which it has been put up, forwarded to them. They give their opinion as to the great value of the invention, state the time they have seen boards dressed by this machine, and describe the quality of the work as compared with that performed by hand labor.
